Richmond Community Foundation
1014 Florida Avenue, Suite 200

Section 1: About Corporate-Advised Funds

Corporate-advised funds allow people to easily support the groups and issues they care about. You may contribute assets to the fund when it is convenient for you, and then recommend grants to qualified nonprofit groups, schools, and religious organizations at any time in the future. You are entitled to claim an income tax charitable deduction in the year(s) in which gifts are made to the fund, regardless of when you recommend grants. (Please consult with your tax advisor.) The Foundation completes due diligence to ensure that recipients are qualified charitable organizations and handles all reporting and other administrative tasks.

Section 2: About You

Section 3: About Your Fund

1. Naming Your Fund

The name of your fund is important. Unless you plan to recommend grants anonymously (more on that below), including your Corporation's name is appropriate—e.g., The Golden Mountain Fund.

You may name your fund in memory or in honor of someone.

If you wish to remain anonymous, consider naming your fund in a way that reflects your interests or a geographical reference, but not your corporate name—e.g., The Richmond Open Space Fund. You may name your fund for your coporation and still recommend grants anonymously. Your grants would be listed in grantee and Foundation listings as “Anonymous Fund.”

What do you want to call your fund?

Fund

2. Expendable or endowed?

Endowments are permanent funds established to carry out the donor's philanthropic intentions in perpetuity. In essence, endowments are gifts that keep growing and giving. Assets are invested for growth, and the amount available for grants each year is based on a "Spending Policy" with an objective of distributing up to 5% of the Fund's market value annually.

Expendable funds permit grant distributions in any amount (minimum of $250 per grant) at any time.

An expendable fund may be converted to an endowment (usually upon the death of the original donor/s), but an endowed fund may not become expendable.

- This fund is an endowment. It will make grant distributions in perpetuity.
- This fund is expendable. It will make grant distributions until fund assets are exhausted, at which time the fund will terminate.
- This fund is expendable during the lifetime(s) of the original donor(s). I/we wish the fund to become an endowment upon the death of the last original donor.

3. How do you want to be recognized for your grantmaking?

- I will let you know my preferences on a case-by-case basis. [Note: You will have an opportunity to indicate your preferences each time you recommend a grant.]
- I want my corporations name and the name of the fund known to grant recipients and published in any public listings of grants, including ones published by the Foundation and grantee organizations.

- I do not want grant recipients to know grants are from my corporation, but the name of the fund may be published in any public listings of grants (This option is appropriate when the name of the fund does not include a corporations name—e.g., The Richmond Open Space Fund.)
- I want to make all grants anonymously. I want to remain anonymous both to grant recipients and in any public listings of grants.

4. How do you want to be recognized for gifts you make to your fund?

- I do not want my company name to be published in listings of contributors to funds at the Richmond Community Foundation.
- I would like my company name to be included in the list of contributors to funds at RCF. [Actual gift amounts are not listed.]

5. How would you like us to handle mail from the groups you support?

The groups you support typically like to send a thank-you letter to you, as well as newsletters, annual reports and organizational updates etc. We ask them to send all correspondence directly to the Foundation. We will forward desired correspondence to your attention. We will recycle all other mail. Please select one of the options below.

- Please forward all fund mail from grantee organizations to the street address below:
- Please forward thank you letters only to the street address below:
- Please do not forward any correspondence from grantee organizations.

6. Working with the Foundation

Foundation staff is always available to help you with your grantmaking decisions. This can include doing research on groups and issues of interest to you, setting up site visits, and meeting with you to discuss your goals for your grantmaking. Please let us know your level of interest in these kinds of services.

- I/we may occasionally need these services and will let you know when we do.
- I/we are interested in meeting with someone at RCF to talk about my/our grantmaking interests.

7. Fund Statements

Statements are issued quarterly and all donors will receive electronic notification. You may choose to receive a paper copy sent in the mail. Please indicate your preference:

- We want to receive statements electronically (any user of RCF's Giving Center will have access to this).
- We want statements sent in the mail

http://www.richmondcf.org/documents/Investment_Policy.pdf

Please indicate your investment pool recommendation based on your grantmaking goals and the time horizon of your Fund. You can change your investment recommendation once per year upon written request.
